Occam's razor - Wikipedia

"Panentheism" is a constructed word composed of the English equivalents of the Greek terms "pan", meaning all, "en", meaning in, and "theism", derived from the Greek 'theos' meaning God. Panentheism considers God and the world to be inter-related with the world being in God and God being in the world.

Yet in Judaism, most of these cosmological issues are wide open to personal opinion. The areas of Jewish thought that most extensively discuss these issues, Kabbalah and Jewish mysticism, were traditionally not even taught to people until the age of 40, when they had completed their education in Torah and Talmud .

Swami Vivekananda's Speeches - Learn Religions

The Abrahamic religions, also referred to collectively as the world of Abrahamism and Semitic religions, are a group of Semitic-originated religions that claim descent from the Judaism of the ancient Israelites and the worship of the God of Abraham. The Abrahamic religions are monotheistic, with the term deriving from the patriarch Abraham (a major figure described both in the Tanakh and the

Of course, even the secular tradition of mindfulness in the West owes its roots to Eastern religions and traditions. It is important to include that some commentators argue that the history of mindfulness should not be reduced to Buddhism and Hinduism, as mindfulness also has roots in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam (Trousselard et al., 2014).

Orthodox Judaism - Wikipedia

Judeo-Christian Religions. Judaism: oldest of the three great monotheistic religions. Death means separation of soul and body, the passing from a world of appearances, a transit, training and learning, to a spiritual world that does not depend on matter (world of truth). As we live, we might or not enjoy the infinite pleasure.

History of Mindfulness: From East to West and Religion to

World religions is a category used in the study of religion to demarcate the five—and in some cases more—largest and most internationally widespread religious movements. Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Hinduism, and Buddhism are always included in the list, being known as the "Big Five". Some scholars also include other religions, such as Sikhism, Zoroastrianism, or the Bahá'í Faith, in
